VOLUME VII INDEX

NO. 1, FALL 1989 1-102
NO. 2, WINTER 1989 103-196
NO. 3, SPRING 1990 197-290
NO. 4, SUMMER 1990 291-388

A

Abuse. See Child abuse; Domestic violence; Spousal abuse

Academy of Family Mediators, 312, 313

Adolescents, issues in mediation, 26-27, 28-50. See also Children "The Advanced Technique of Touching: Notes from a Training Seminar," 285-289

Agreements: and divorce mediation, 341-343; facilitating, 6; and fairness, 3-12

Alternation, 61-62

Alternative dispute resolution (ADR): and archetypal dispute, 164; Brazil (study), 51-58; business, 109; characteristics, 107; drawbacks, 112-113; history, 106-107; instruction, 111; international, 110-111; and law enforcement, 110; law school programs (study), 89-101; and litigation, 163; and negotiated rulemaking/budgeting, 110; and neighborhood justice, 109-110; new developments, 109-111; positive results, 111-112; success rates, 56; techniques, 91; telephone, 191-195; United States, 51, 54-55, 56-58. See also Conflict resolution (CR); Dispute resolution; Mediation

"Alternative Dispute Resolution in Brazil," 51-58

American Bar Association (ABA), 137

Articles: "Alternative Dispute Resolution in Brazil," 51-58; "Benefits of Court-Sponsored Mediation: A Study of Outcomes and Influences on Success," 199-213; "Coercion to Empowerment, From: Spousal Abuse and Mediation," 303-316; "Conflict Resolution in Elementary and Secondary Education," 73-87; "Divorce Mediation in New Hampshire: A Voluntary Concept," 33-40; "The Ethical Basis of Mediation: Why Mediators Need Philosophers," 1-50; "Future Lawyers: Adversaries or Problem Solvers? Two Law School Programs in Alternative Dispute Resolution," 89-101; "Gentle Jeopardy: The Further Endangerment of Battered Women and Children in Custody Mediation," 317-330; "Judicial Response to Family Violence: The Importance of Message," 293-302; "Land Use Mediation for Planners," 163-173; "Mediating Child Welfare Disputes: How to Focus on the Best Interest of the Child," 229-235; "Mediation in Academia: Practicing What We Preach," 157-161; "Mediation in the Schools: Self-Regulation, Self-Esteem, and Self-Discipline," 149-155; "Mediator Directiveness in Child Custody Mediation: An Exploration of Alternatives and Decision Making," 215-227; "The Merely Known Mediator: Taosim and the Metaphoric Analysis of Mediator Behavior in Divorce and Custody Mediation," 251-284; "A Model for Ethical Decision Making in Mediation," 133-148; "Multicriteria Dispute Resolution Through Computer-Aided Mediation Software," 175-189; "The Quiet Revolution in Dispute Settlement," 105-113; "Reframing Conflict: Implications for Fairness in Parent-Adolescent Mediation," 15-31; "Therapeutic Family Mediation: Fitting the Service to the Interactional Diversity of Client Couples," 115-131; "Turf-Side Conflict Mediation for Students," 237-250; "U.S. Mediation in Revolutionary Conflicts 1944-1986," 59-72; "What Is a Fair Agreement?" 3-13

Association of Family and Conciliation Courts, 312

B

Balto, B., "Mediator Directiveness in Child Custody Mediation: An Exploration of Alternatives and Decision Making," 215-227

Battered women: and batterers, 295–296, 305–306, 318–325; history, 304; and mediation, 299, 313, 320–321, 325, 356–359; nonequal power, 318–322; and separation violence, 323–324; societal role, 295; traits, 305–306; victim advocates, 313; vulnerability, 296. See also Domestic violence; Spousal abuse; Victim advocates
Bautz, B. J., "Divorce Mediation in New Hampshire: A Voluntary Concept," 33–40
"Benefits of Court-Sponsored Mediation: A Study of Outcomes and Influences on Success," 199–213
Benjamin, M., "Therapeutic Family Mediation: Fitting the Service to the Interactional Diversity of Client Couples," 115–131
Brazil: background, 52; lawyers, 52, 53–54; mediation, 53–58; P-time, 54
Brazilian Bar Association, 52
Burrell, N. A., "Turf-Side Conflict Mediation for Students," 237–250

C

Camplair, C. W., "Benefits of Court-Sponsored Mediation: A Study of Outcomes and Influences on Success," 199–213
Chandler, D. B., "Violence, Fear, and Communication: The Variable Impact of Domestic Violence on Mediation," 331–346
Child abuse: and domestic violence, 308; and marriage separation, 322; sexual, 322–323
Child custody: and divorce method, 37–39; and domestic violence, 325–326, 352–353, 356–359; and fairness, 8–12, 318; joint, 358–359. See also Custody mediation
Child support, 9, 210
Children: abduction, 323; and domestic violence, 308, 349–352; homicide, 323. See also Child abuse; Child custody; Child support
Children's Creative Response to Conflict (CCRC), 149–150
Clients: diversity, 115–116; empowerment, 47–48; ethics, 46; prerogatives, 7; self-determination, 221–225; TFM, 115–116, 120–121; touching, 285–289
"Coercion to Empowerment, From: Spousal Abuse and Mediation," 303–316
Community mediation centers, 150
Computer-aided mediation: alternatives, 178–181; applications, 177–178; criteria, 181–183; and litigation dispute resolution, 183–186; mechanics, 178; and policy/goal percentaging, 178; software, 176–177; steps, 186–188
Conflict: academic, 157; generative metaphors, 253–254; and power, 61; redefinition (case examples), 28–30; reframing, 6; student, 243; systems approach, 4–5. See also Conflict resolution (CR)
Conflict Assessment Protocol (CAP), 366–372
Conflict resolution (CR): and child protection, 231; content, 76–78; curriculum design, 76–80; programs, 82–86; stages, 159; student dispute, 243–245; theory, 134–135. See also Alternative dispute resolution (ADR); Dispute resolution; Mediation; Negotiation
"Conflict Resolution in Elementary and Secondary Education," 73–87
Conflict Resolution Resources for Schools and Youth, 150
Consultants, 7, 11
Corcoran, K. O., "From Coercion to Empowerment: Spousal Abuse and Mediation," 303–316
Cosmano, R., "Mediating Child Welfare Disputes: How to Focus on the Best Interest of the Child," 229–235
Curriculum: conceptions, 74–75; design for CR programs, 76–80; and learning behavior, 79–80; methodology, 78–79; objectives, 76; and politics, 80; and student characteristics, 75–76
Custody mediation: and battered women/children, 321–324; and batterers, 325–326; and child support, 9, 210; decision model, 224–225; defined, 318; inadvisability, 353–355; and spousal abuse, 356–359. See also Child custody; Divorce mediation

D

Dispute resolution: alternative, 106–109; of child-related issues, 209–211, 229–

234 (case study); computer-aided, 175-183; origins, 105-106. See also Alternative dispute resolution (ADR); Conflict resolution (CR); Mediation
Divorce: and domestic violence, 308, 324-326; New Hampshire (study), 33-37; no-fault, 53; satisfaction with, 37; and separation violence, 323-324. See also Divorce mediation
Divorce mediation: advantages, 332; agreement rates, 341-343; Connecticut, 300; court-sponsored (study), 201-212; defined, 331-332; disadvantages, 332-333; and domestic violence, 326-327, 332-335, 377-388; New Hampshire (study), 33-39; theory, 318. See also Custody mediation
"Divorce Mediation in New Hampshire: A Voluntary Concept," 33-40
Doelker, R. E., Jr., "Mediation in Academia: Practicing What We Preach," 157-161
Domestic violence: approaches, 308-310; arrest strategies, 309; and child custody/visitation, 325-326, 352-353; compassionate interventions, 309-310; cycle, 306-307; effects on children, 308, 349-352; legal response, 294-295, 307-308; police response, 294-295, 308-309; public policy, 333-334; research, 345; screening, 300-301, 336-337, 339-340, 355-357, 366-372, 379-382; study (Connecticut), 294-298; victim advocates, 297, 311-312, 335; victim/offender relationship, 295-296, 318-325. See also Domestic violence mediation; Spousal abuse
Domestic Violence/Family Court Services Committee (Los Angeles), 355
Domestic violence mediation: vs. adversarial system, 311; agreement rates, 341-345; approach/application, 312-314; appropriateness, 310-311, 334-335; arguments against, 326-327, 353-355, 386-387; civil court disputes, 299-301; client screening, 300-301, 336-337, 366-376; Connecticut, 298-299; and custody disputes, 356-359; District of Columbia Mediation Service study (1982), 311; inequalities, 310, 322; safety issues, 382-385
Dworkin, J., "What Is a Fair Agreement?" 3-13

E

Early Complaint Resolution Process (ECRP) (U.S. Department of Health and Human Services), 192
Education: and academic rationalism, 74; and CR curriculum design, 76-80; and curriculum concepts, 74-75; early childhood, 151; elementary, 78-79; and learning behavior, 79-80; mediation, 73-80, 149-154, 157-160; secondary, 79; and student characteristics, 75-76
Educators for Social Responsibility (ESR), 149
"Effects of Domestic Violence on Children and Their Consequences for Custody and Visitation Agreements," 347-363
Empowerment: client, 47-48; and mediation, 150-151, 314; in negotiation, 69-70; weaker party, 59. See also Power
Erickson, S. K., "Mediating Spousal Abuse Divorce," 377-388
"The Ethical Basis of Mediation: Why Mediators Need Philosophers," 41-50
Ethical decision-making model, 136-140
Ethical dilemmas (EDs): case illustration, 140-143; decision model, 224-225; four-step process, 138-140; and professional ethics code, 138, 142 (Canada); resolving, 143-145; sources, 136-137; types, 137-138; worker authority vs. client autonomy, 225
Ethics: consequentialist theory, 43-44; defined, 134; deontological theory, 44-45, 48-49; language, 43; mediation, 41-50, 219-221; mediator training, 136; model, 136-140; NASW code, 220-221; presumptions, 41-42; professional, code, 138, 142 (Canada); utilitarian theory, 43, 47-48; virtue, 45, 49. See also Ethical dilemmas (EDs); Fairness

F

Fairness: child custody, 7-12; Coogler's conception, 135-136; criteria, 3-4; divorce settlement, 37-39; family, 15;

Fairness (continued)
legal, 7; Mediation Council of Illinois definition, 6; and parent-adolescent mediation, 27–28; perceptions, 5; philosophical basis, 46, 318; procedural, 5–6; property division, 8–12; substantive, 6–7; systems approach, 4–5
Family mediation: and ADR, 109; ethical decision-making model, 136–140; principles, 134–135; problem solving, 138–140; therapeutic, 116–128; values, 135–136. See also Divorce mediation; Domestic violence mediation; Mediation; Therapeutic family mediation (TFM)
Family violence. See Domestic violence
Family Violence Prevention and Response Act of 1986 (Connecticut), 293, 296–297
"Future Lawyers: Adversaries or Problem Solvers? Two Law School Programs in Alternative Dispute Resolution," 89–101

G

"Gentle Jeopardy: The Further Endangerment of Battered Women and Children in Custody Mediation," 317–330
Gibson, K., "The Ethical Basis of Mediation: Why Mediators Need Philosophers," 41–50
Girdner, L. K., "Mediation and Spouse Abuse" (special issue), 291–292; "Mediation Triage: Screening for Spouse Abuse in Divorce Mediation," 365–376
Grebe, S. C., "A Model for Ethical Decision Making in Mediation," 133–148

H

Hart, B. J., "Gentle Jeopardy: The Further Endangerment of Battered Women and Children in Custody Mediation," 317–330
Hill, R. M., "Divorce Mediation in New Hampshire: A Voluntary Concept," 33–40
Holt, G. R., "The Merely Known Mediator: Taosim and the Metaphoric Analysis of Mediator Behavior in Divorce and Custody Mediation," 51–284

I

Irvin, K., "A Model for Ethical Decision Making in Mediation," 133–148
Irving, H. H., "Therapeutic Family Mediation: Fitting the Service to the Interactional Diversity of Client Couples," 115–131

J

"Judicial Response to Family Violence: The Importance of Message," 293–302
Justice. See Fairness

K

Kaminsky, H., "Mediating Child Welfare Disputes: How to Focus on the Best Interest of the Child," 229–235

L

Lam, J. A., "Reframing Conflict: Implications for Fairness in Parent-Adolescent Mediation," 15–31
Land use: disputes, 164; law and policy, 165; mediation, 164–165, 167
"Land Use Mediation for Planners," 163–173
Lang, M., "A Model for Ethical Decision Making in Mediation," 133–148
Lawyers: Brazil, 52, 53–54; future, 89–101; traditional view, 89
Levy, J., "Conflict Resolution in Elementary and Secondary Education," 73–87
London, W., "What Is a Fair Agreement?" 3–13

M

McKnight, M. S., "Mediating Spousal Abuse Divorce," 377–388
Maxwell, J. P., "Mediation in the Schools: Self-Regulation, Self-Esteem, and Self-Discipline," 149–155
"Mediating Child Welfare Disputes: How to Focus on the Best Interest of the Child," 229–235
"Mediating Spousal Abuse Divorce," 377–388

Mediation: active, 71–72; agreements, 3–12; and alternation, 61–62; confidentiality, 48; and conflict, 28–30; defined, 163, 200, 215–216, 310; democratic theory, 166; education, 73–80, 157–160, 238–249; environmental dispute, 164; ethical basis, 41–44; international, 51–58, 110–111, 252; internships, 92–93, 96–98; intervention model, 158–160; law school programs (study), 89–101; legislation, 137; vs. litigation, 163, 166, 206–207; orientation, 159–160; parent-adolescent, 15–31; and parents, 26–27, 28–30; philosophy, 43–46; popularity, 199–200, 237–238; and power, 47–48, 59, 61–64, 69–70; and problem solving, 138–140; and reframing, 6, 16–17; and relationships, 112; in revolutionary settings, 59–72; school-based, 110, 149–154, 238–249; successful, 154, 218, 252; and Taoism, 254–282; telephone, 191–195; theory, 44; and touching, 285–289; training, 93–94, 98; and women, 206–209; working assumptions, 50. See also Alternative dispute resolution (ADR); Computer-aided mediation; Conflict resolution (CR); Custody mediation; Divorce mediation; Family mediation; Family violence mediation; Negotiation; Peer mediation; Political mediation; Therapeutic family mediation (TFM)

"Mediation and Spouse Abuse" (special issue), 291–292

"Mediation in Academia: Practicing What We Preach," 157–161

"Mediation in the Schools: Self-Regulation, Self-Esteem, and Self-Discipline," 149–155

Mediation triage, 372–375. See also Domestic violence: screening

"Mediation Triage: Screening for Spouse Abuse in Divorce Mediation," 365–376

"Mediator Directiveness in Child Custody Mediation: An Exploration of Alternatives and Decision Making," 215–227

Mediators: directiveness, 221–225; domestic violence training, 356–358; ethics, 46, 47, 219–221; fairness, 5–6; guidance roles, 217–219; impartiality, 251–252; intervention, 5; as judges, 216–217; limitations, 134–135; neutrality, 48, 385–386; outside consultant, 7; power, 60; regulation, 137; responsibilities, 7, 378–379; role, 124–125; safety, 382–385; as social workers, 220–222; student, 153, 239–245; Taoist metaphors, 254–282; techniques, 6; touching clients, 285–289

Melamed, J. C., "From Coercion to Empowerment: Spousal Abuse and Mediation," 303–316

Menard, A. E., "Judicial Response to Family Violence: The Importance of Message," 293–302

"The Merely Known Mediator: Taosim and the Metaphoric Analysis of Mediator Behavior in Divorce and Custody Mediation," 251–284

Merit System Protection Board (MSPB), 192

Mills, M. K., "Multicriteria Dispute Resolution Through Computer-Aided Mediation Software,' 175–189

"A Model for Ethical Decision Making in Mediation," 133–148

"Multicriteria Dispute Resolution Through Computer-Aided Mediation Software," 175–189

N

Nagel, S. S., "Multicriteria Dispute Resolution Through Computer-Aided Mediation Software," 175–189

National Conference on Peacemaking and Conflict Resolution, 111

National Institute for Dispute Resolution, 158

National Judicial College, 111

Negotiated budgeting, 110

Negotiated rule making, 110

Negotiation: and alternation, 61–62; and balance of power, 69–70, 160; and coalitions, 65–66; and factionalism, 60; international, 59–72; principled, 125; in TFM, 124–126. See also Alternative dispute resolution (ADR); Conflict resolution (CR); Mediation

Neighborhood justice centers, 109–110, 150, 355

Neumann, D., "The Advanced Technique of Touching: Notes from a Training Seminar," 285–289
New Hampshire Mediation Program, 34

O

Orme, J. D., "U.S. Mediation in Revolutionary Conflicts 1944–1986," 59–72

P

Pagelow, M. D., "Effects of Domestic Violence on Children and Their Consequences for Custody and Visitation Agreements," 347–363
Parent-Adolescent Mediation Program (Massachusetts), study of, 15–31
Peer mediation, Milwaukee Public School System program, 238–249
Philosophy: consequentialist, 43–44, 47–48; deontological, 44–45, 48–49; mediation, 41–50; and mediator training, 136; utilitarian, 43; virtue ethic, 44, 49
Planning: and land use mediation, 163–171; local government, 165
Political mediation: and alternation, 61–62; balance of power, 69–70; and coalition governments, 65–66; and factionalism, 60; and radicalization, 68–69
Pound Conference, 108–109
Power: balance, 69–70, 160; mediation clients', 47–58; sharing, 61–64, 71–72; weaker party's, 59
Premediation Counseling Program (Family Peace Program), 336
Promotoria de Justica no Barrio (Brazil), 53–56
Property division, 8–12

Q

"The Quiet Revolution in Dispute Settlement," 105–113

R

Reframing: conflict, 6; issues, 26; and mediation, 16–17
"Reframing Conflict: Implications for Fairness in Parent-Adolescent Mediation," 15–31
Research and Practice: "The Advanced Technique of Touching: Notes from a Training Seminar," 285–289; "Effects of Domestic Violence on Children and Their Consequences for Custody and Visitation Agreements," 347–363; "Mediating Spousal Abuse Divorce," 377–388; "Mediation Triage: Screening for Spouse Abuse in Divorce Mediation," 365–376; "Violence, Fear, and Communication: The Variable Impact of Domestic Violence on Mediation," 331–346; "Your Telephone May Be a Party Line: Mediation by Telephone," 191–196
Rifkin, J., "Reframing Conflict: Implications for Fairness in Parent-Adolescent Mediation," 15–31

S

Salius, A. J., "Judicial Response to Family Violence: The Importance of Message," 293–302
Savage, C. A., "Future Lawyers: Adversaries or Problem Solvers? Two Law School Programs in Alternative Dispute Resolution,' 89–101
School Mediators' Alternative Resolution Team (SMART), 150
Schools: conflict management programs 153, 238–249; mediation, 149–154, 238–249; student mediators, 153, 238–249. See also Peer mediation
SchWeber, C., "Your Telephone May Be a Party Line: Mediation by Telephone," 191–196
Separation violence, 323–324
Singer, L. R., "The Quiet Revolution in Dispute Settlement," 105–113
Social Science Education Consortium, 153
Society of Professionals in Dispute Resolution, 111
Spousal abuse: defined, 202; history, 304; prevalence, 303–304; screening techniques, 300–301, 336–337, 339–340, 355–357, 366–372, 379–382; victim/offender roles, 295–296, 305–306, 318–325. See also Domestic violence; Domestic violence mediation

Steingard, D., "The Merely Known Mediator: Taosim and the Metaphoric Analysis of Mediator Behavior in Divorce and Custody Mediation," 251-284
Stolberg, A. L., "Benefits of Court-Sponsored Mediation: A Study of Outcomes and Influences on Success," 199-213
Systems: approach to conflict, 4-5; survival, 4

T

Therapeutic family mediation (TFM): assessment process, 118-122; case illustrations, 121-122, 123-124,126, 127; client levels, 120-121; client variation, 115-116; clientele, 116; flexibility, 128-129; follow-up process, 126-127; negotiation stage, 124-126; phases, 118-127; premediation stage, 122-124; process, 117-118. See also Family mediation
Tomain, J. P., "Land Use Mediation for Planners," 163-173
Townley, A., "Reframing Conflict: Implications for Fairness in Parent-Adolescent Mediation," 15-31
"Turf-Side Conflict Mediation for Students," 237-250

U

United States: foreign policy, 67-69; mediation in China, 61, 65, 66, 68-69; mediation in Cuba, 61, 63, 67, 69; mediation in Dominican Republic, 61; mediation in Iran, 61, 62-63, 67; mediation in Laos, 61, 64, 65; mediation in Lebanon, 61; mediation in Nicaragua, 61, 65, 66, 67, 69; mediation in Philippines, 61, 63, 69; mediation in Vietnam, 61; mediation in Zimbabwe-Rhodesia, 61, 62, 64
University of Denver College of Law Project, 94-98
University of New Mexico School of Law (study), 91-94
"U.S. Mediation in Revolutionary Conflicts 1944-1986," 59-72

V

Victim advocates: Connecticut, 297; Hawaii (study), 335-346; mediation concerns, 311-312
Violence. See Domestic violence
"Violence, Fear, and Communication: The Variable Impact of Domestic Violence on Mediation," 331-346
Vogl, S. M., "Turf-Side Conflict Mediation for Students," 237-250
Volkema, R. J., "Alternative Dispute Resolution in Brazil," 51-58

W

"What Is a Fair Agreement?" 3-13
Women. See Battered women; Mediation: and women

Y

"Your Telephone May Be a Party Line: Mediation by Telephone," 191-196